

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

develop an effective group in Boston in close touch with the State Commission. He adds, "There are immense possibilities if we can only get the right people to take hold."

NEW A. L. A. PUBLICATIONS

The three new A. L. A. publications are worthy of note. "Library Efficiency Test" arranged by Miss Julia A. Robinson, of the Iowa Library Commission, should prove of great value to libraries and trustees who wish to check up and ascertain whether the library is paying sufficient dividends upon the investment made. The need of the hour is to put libraries upon a business basis, and enable them to take a well established place in the business and professional world. To this end no better aid could be given than that suggested in the pamphlet by Miss Robinson. With the same object in view (that of establishing businesslike methods in libraries) the Association has published "Some Principles of Businesslike Conduct in Libraries," by Dr. A. E. Bostwick. Dr. Bostwick's methods of forceful presentation of his subject are too well known to need further comment.

The third publication is "The Booklist Books 1919: a selection," compiled from the monthly lists of the Booklist. This list is issued in response to a demand for a shorter list of the books of the year, with Booklist notes. It represents the approval of about 60 libraries in the country to whom a tentative list of nearly 500 titles was sent.

ADVANCE ATTENDANCE REGISTER

An advance attendance register will be printed as usual. We want this to include all those who will attend the conference. The list will be compiled from hotel bookings made through the A. L. A. representative at Colorado Springs. All who expect to attend, and who do not make their hotel reservations through the above agency, should send name, library position, home address, and Colorado Springs address, not later than May 15th, to Mr. Manly B. Ormes, librarian, Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Colo.

LIBRARY SCHOOL DINNERS

All library school dinners and reunions will be held on Saturday evening, June 5th. Dinners at 6:30 at The Antlers. All those in charge of these dinners should confer with the Secretary of the A. L. A. at once, notifying him that a dinner will be held, who is in charge, and how many (approximately) will be present.

SALE, EXCHANGE, WANTS

(Any library member of the Association may insert, without cost, a ten-line notice of books or periodicals wanted, for sale or exchange.)

WANTS

Thomas A. Edison Library, Orange, N. J.
U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics Bulletins 159, 167, 173, 176, 179, 201, 202, 219, 250.

Brown University Library, Providence, R. I.
The Technology Review, v. 18, no. 5; v. 20, no. 4 to end; v. 21.

Providence (R. I.) Public Library
Official U. S. Bulletin, March 31, 1919.

For Sale

Georgia School of Technology Library, Atlanta, Ga.

New York Historical Society, Collections 1868-1891 (41 v.); duplicates 1868-1884.

OFFERS

Mr. B. A. Leonard, De Pere, Wis., offers to send free to any library applying, a copy of the "Newton Genealogy" by Mrs. E. E. Newton Leonard (Mrs. B. A. Leonard). The book will be sent by express collect.